

Trophy Shot

the garden of man eating dandelions

FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 2010

Gilad Ratman

this video was the highlight of the "greater new york" show at PS1. these creepy heads or living mud bubbles kept popping in and out of a forested mudpit. some of them looked like they had tubes in their mouths. i couldn't tell if it was some sort of resort spa treatment gone wrong, or some sci-fi mud creatures eerily bobbing out of a swampy pit. on the second screen you could see mud filtering through elaborate tube networks and pulsing sickeningly through strung up flutes and recorders. it was all so grotesque and repulsive, but i couldn't stop watching it!

About Me

Name:

Uncle Jesse

Location:

Eureka, Northern California, United States

I'm a painter who lives in the woods. Someday the trees will eat me.

View my complete profile

Previous Posts

- richard prince
- Alison Schulnik at CANADA
- whiskey
- otto dix at neue galerie
- kelli williams
- the brooklyn bridge!
- living room laments
- open studio pics!
- synchronicity
- my studio assistant

