

They replied that in the night the sheikh strolled through the fair

Therefore, the power was off and he saw the globe standing still