12th September - 5 sktobris, 2014

Yesterday, September 11, the Latvian National Museum of Art exhibition hall Arsenals workshop was inaugurated Israeli photographer David Adika (David Adika , 1970) solo show " As In Water Face Reflects Face / As water reflects the true face of man, "which will be seen until the fifth October.

"The exhibition seen as an allegory of humanity's existence on the core values of the similarities and differences in Eastern and Western cultures," it commented on its curator Ines Baranovska. David Adika it is documenting ancient copper dish kit from his parents' home - typical of every Jewish family relic. "This traditional dish countless variations of still lifes stand out not only with a bright and matte surface reflections and elegant light and shadow play, they are also silent witnesses who keep themselves one nation's history, complex and unpredictable as the finest chess game. In this cycle, the author looks over actual objects, searching for similar metaphorical meanings, which is based in history, tradition, ideology, sense of taste, language, culture and social background, "continues Baranovska.
